Subject: English B

Class: 2nd

Term: First

Topic: The Subject And The Predicate.

Q1. Look at the sentences:

Subject	Predicate
a) The Cow	gives us milk
b) The man	is standing under the tree.
c) The book	is on the table.

It is clear from the sentence in the above given that every sentence has two parts. The subject and the predicate.

Subject
Sub + jeel
Somebody do
Somebody who does any work is a subject in a sentence.

Predicate
Pre + dicale
Beginning Tell
The predicate tells us about the action of the subject in a sentence.

The animal, person, thing or the place we talk about in a sentence is called the subject. What is said about the subject is called the predicate.

The subject is generally a noun or a pronoun. It can be a person, animal, place or a thing. The rest part of the sentence which is called predicate normally starts with verb.
